Adopt a Classroom

with RSVP’s Family Literacy Program

You and your co-workers can do something fun, while helping children in the community who need support before entering elementary school.

Adopt a Classroom is easy. Once you and your group sign up as RSVP volunteers, you can take turns going into your local Head Start classroom to read to the children and work on literacy skills.

Your commitment may be as little as once every other month. It’s up to you and your group to decide how you want to structure your volunteer hours.
